Dear SIG 24 Members,

Please see the opportunities below, which may be of interest to you. Do feel free to share with your networks as well!

1. African research and the global science system: a CGHE webinar series, convened by David Mills, Adamseged Abebe, & Lynn McAlpine
   - Thursday, 24 Nov 2022 14:00 - Tuesday, 06 Dec 2022 15:00
   - Zoom webinars, registration required

   https://www.researchcghe.org/events/cghe-seminar/african-research-and-the-global-science-system-a-cghe-webinar-series/

2. The Graduate Research School at the University of Technology Sydney is hiring 2 postdocs from any disciplinary background to conduct research on questions that might include:

   1. What role do graduate research alumni play in fostering innovation and promoting inclusive and sustainable economic, social and cultural prosperity?
   2. How might we innovate graduate research training to prepare students for the research careers of the future, ensuring a resilient and sustainable knowledge economy?
   3. How might we embed meaningful opportunities for industry collaboration in the graduate research journey?
   4. How might we develop a vibrant and robust graduate research culture that integrates students, supervisors, faculties, and the wider university community?
   5. How might we support graduate researcher wellbeing?

   These are two-year positions, base salary AUD $112,000, visa sponsorship a possibility, application deadline 15 Nov. Our ideal candidates will be able to publish high-level research, build international research networks around these issues including collaborative grant applications, and help develop/advise on best-practice innovations.