Digital Transformation in Teacher Education

Conference 2020
Carl von Ossietzky University Oldenburg
Germany

The steering committee and the organizing team warmly welcome you to the SIG11-conference in June 2020 at the Carl von Ossietzky University Oldenburg (Germany). We are looking forward to your participation!

Pre-conference date (JURE): 9th June 2020
Conference date (SIG 11): 10th - 12th June 2020
Rapid changes in information and computer technology (ICT) affect learning and teaching in schools and universities. We need to develop didactical methods to enable future teachers to enrich their classroom practice. To do so requires that we learn more about the impact of digital transformations on teaching and learning in schools and in teacher education programs. Research-based contributions to the conference theme, as well as to other relevant questions of teaching and teacher education are welcome.

If you are interested in proposals for a Round Table, Poster, Paper, Symposium please visit our homepage for the Call for Papers and more information.

Please do not hesitate to contact us for all conference related questions. We are looking forward to your participation!
