Call for editors-in-chief and (assistant) editors for the EARLI journals

After a period of 4 years of editorship, Prof. dr. Lars-Erik Malmberg & Prof. dr. Thomas Martens are stepping down as editors-in-chief of the EARLI journals. Therefore, we are inviting applications for the following positions:

"Learning & Instruction"

- One editor-in-chief,
- Multiple Editors "Frontline Learning Research"

- One editor-in-chief,
- Multiple editors

About the journals:

"Learning & Instruction" is managed through the EVISE, the electronic journal management platform of Elsevier Science. For the editorial office expenses, the editors from L&I will receive a financial compensation according to the contract with the publisher. The new editor-in-chief will be in a position to appoint their (associate) editors and the advisory board (in agreement with the EARLI Executive Committee and Elsevier). More information can be found via Learning & Instruction.

Frontline Learning Research is an Open Access journal that is published and managed by EARLI office. The website and review system is hosted on the OJS platform. The new editor-in-chief will be in a position to appoint their (associate) editors, in agreement with the EARLI Executive Committee. More information can be found on the webpage Frontline Learning Research.

The office starts at 1st January 2022 and has a four year term.

Profile:

Any member who meets the criteria listed below and who is willing to serve, is warmly invited to submit an application for the post of editor-in-chief, assistant editor or editor.

The criteria are the following:
- scholar with tenured position of full or associate professor;
- Well and widely published in international highly ranked journals in previous years;
- Record of empirical research;
- EARLI membership for at least 5 years;
• A wide perspective on the field of L&I;
• Editorial experience as a board member in different scientific journals, or associate editor, or editor of a journal in the field;
• A record of being reviewer for scientific journals;
• Organisational ability and willingness to invest time.

EARLI is striving to achieve an equal gender and diverse geographic workforce within our editorial teams!

Please submit your application (extended CV and short motivation) addressed to EARLI’s Executive Committee at info@earli.org by June 21, 2021 midnight CEST. Don’t hesitate to contact us should you have additional questions, via that same email address.

Best wishes,

EARLI Office